PROJECTS

Sleep Study: In this project, I used a dataset of university students in the United States to examine the correlation between variables such as sleep, GPA, and alcohol consumption. I also made statistical estimates of the average GPA and sleep hours of university students in the United States.

Portfolio Project: In this project, I examined the five-year performance of a diversified portfolio. I not only analyzed the portfolio's returns but also used various risk metrics and optimization tools. I demonstrated how the portfolio might change with Monte Carlo simulations.
